Hundreds Inspect County's New Hospital Facilities

Dedication Ceremonies Take Place

Official dedication of the new $1,400,000 General Hospital of Monroe County Saturday was followed by inspection of over 600 persons individuals yesterday from all and another 1,800 individuals yesterday from all sections of the 30-mile radius hospital service region.

Started under threatening skies and preceded by light rain which undoubtedly put the dampener on attendance, dedicatory exercises were impressive. Incorporated in the program was the planting of a dedication dogwood tree.

Edward C. Jenkins of Buck Hill Falls, vice president of the board of directors of the hospital, was chairman of the exercises. He noted that May 12 was selected because it was the 31st anniversary of the General hospital and because it was National Hospital day.

The latter observance commemorated the first hospital, the Pennsylvania in Philadelphia—not to be confused with University of Pennsylvania hospital—which was founded 200 years ago.

Mr. Jenkins said it was Benjamin Franklin who fostered establishment of the hospital 200 years ago. Franklin, he said, first used the idea of matching private funds with public funds to establish a hospital, an idea used to some degree in General Hospital.

The funds which built the new addition, Mr. Jenkins recalled, were collected in two separate campaigns, one in 1946 and the other in 1948. Leader of that campaign, he said, was Clifford R. Gilliam, president and general manager of the Buck Hill Falls Co.

Mr. Gilliam has been a leader in virtually every civic campaign project of this region. Mr. Jenkins recalled. He has long been identified with the YMCA and its national body, one of the founders of Community Chest and Barrett welfare fund, a leader in Boy Scout movement locally, state-wide and nationally, Mr. Jenkins said. He introduced Mr. Gilliam who formally presented the hospital as campaign chairman of the hospital building fund.

Mr. Gilliam said he appeared as spokesman for the campaign workers, the able campaign director, the thousands of contributors, architects, contractors and workers who had given generously toward creation of the new addition.

In the name of all of these and others, the three auxiliaries especially who contributed so substantially toward the hospital, Mr. Gilliam presented the hospital to the board of directors and staff of the institution.

Frank S. LaBar was introduced by Mr. Jenkins to accept the hospital. Mr. Jenkins pointed to Mr. LaBar's very substantial record of community service in many roles including one of the founding leaders of Community Chest, director of Chamber of Commerce, head of the Selective Service during World War Two, member of the hospital board, bank director and participant in many other outstanding community projects.

Mr. LaBar said acceptance of the $1,400,000 hospital represented the end of a dream for many people. The project was accomplished through the great direction of Mr. Gilliam and through the interest and counsel of the community.

"The board of directors accepts this as a public trust," Mr. LaBar said.

"We are aware of our responsibilities," he added. Mr. LaBar disclosed that from March, 1950 to March, 1951 the hospital did over $60,000 worth of free patient work. He said for that expenditure the institution received $27,540 which included $18,000 from the State, $7,040 from Community Chest and $2,500 from Monroe county commissioners.

He emphasized that the institution (Continued on Page 12)

Motorist Summons Help With Horn

Allegheny, Mich., (AP)—Elmer Franklin, 46, saved himself by tooting his horn after his truck upset in a ditch on a lonely country road yesterday.

Shrubbery concealed the truck from the few motorists on the road at 2:30 a. m. Trapped in the cab, Franklin tooted and tooted. An hour later, R. H. Berkshire of Elkhart, Ind., a motorist, heard the horn.

Franklin was pulled from the cab just as the wiring caught fire. He suffered only slight burns.

New Beef-Price Ceilings Won't Be Felt Immediately

Washington, (AP)—Steaks, roasts and other beef cuts go on sale at dollars and cents ceiling prices in about 300,000 retail stores across the country today. But this doesn't mean the housewife will get lower beef prices right away.

Missing ABC Correspondent Found Dead

Oslo, Norway, (AP)—The body of Lyford Moore, 40, American Broadcasting Co. Correspondent who disappeared in Oslo last December, was found yesterday by a police patrol boat in Inner Oslo fjord.

Prof. Georg Waaler, head of the Norwegian Medico-Legal Institute, said the body's identity was established by fingerprints.

It showed no signs of death by violence, Waaler said. Further investigation into the cause of death will be made, he added.

The body was found floating in the water near the western shore of the fjord just south of the city.

Remains of Moore's clothing still were on his body, but the pockets were empty. No documents or money could be found.

Jimmy Stewart's Wife Improving After Operations

Hollywood, (AP)—Mrs. Jimmy Stewart was reported improved last night after her third operation within a week.

A spokesman for Stewart said Cedars of Lebanon hospital took the actor's wife off the critical list after she spent a restful day. Stewart, who had spent a sleepless night, also managed to catch a nap yesterday afternoon.

The third operation, performed Saturday night for intestinal complications, was called a success. The hospital still listed her condition as serious, however. She is 32.

The spokesman said that no further surgery will be needed, barring unforeseen complications. The third operation and some minor surgery Friday had nothing to do with the births of twin girls to the former Gloria Hatrick McLean. The twins were born last Monday by Caesarian section.

Adjournment Hopes Slim

Washington, (AP)—Congressional leaders see no change to get Congress out of town by July 31, the adjournment date set by the congressional reorganization act.

Right now they would be willing to settle in advance for a mid-summer vacation of a month or so, with a return engagement running right up to Christmas.

No adjournment or vacation plans have been considered formally, but House leaders are settling their sights on a recess starting the latter part of August and extending through September.

The legislative docket still is crowded. Big bills in the unfinished category include extension of the draft, renewal of the defense production (price-wage control) act, extension of the reciprocal trade program, foreign military and economic assistance, taxes, and appropriations.

Gorilla Drowns In Zoo Despite Keeper's Heroism

New York, (AP)—Makoko, 14-year-old gorilla, drowned in a moat at the Bronx zoo yesterday. More than a thousand persons witnessed the tragedy—and the heroism of a keeper of birds who plunged in to try to rescue the great ape.

But Makoko's 440 pounds were too heavy for George Scott, the bird man, to haul out of the water. Great apes cannot swim.

Makoko had ambled to the edge of the moat in mid-afternoon and, as 1,200 persons watched, lost his footing and slipped into the water. The moat is more than six feet deep and 12 feet wide, built to protect both the animals and the public.

Woman Found Fatally Beaten

Hamilton, N. Y., (AP)—The body of an 81-year-old woman, beaten to death by a hammer, was found yesterday in the farm home where she lived alone. State police said they had started a search for a suspect.

Mrs. Jennie R. Ness had been dead since late Friday or early Saturday, Dr. Jackson W. Thro. Madison county coroner, said.

The body was found in the living room by the woman's brother-in-law, Charles P. Reed, Hamilton town clerk. He had gone to the farm, about a mile south of the central New York village, to take her to a Mother's day church service, police said.

She was last seen alive Wednesday night when Reed drove her home from a prayer meeting.

State Senate Takes Up Tax Bill Today

Harrisburg, (AP)—The administration's weeks-long battle for a flat income tax in Pennsylvania heads into its final showdown this week in the Senate—with the result in doubt.

Much will depend on a count of noses at the Republican Senate caucus to be held in advance of the session late this afternoon.

Five of the 30 Republican Senators have voiced opposition to Gov. John S. Fine's proposal to levy a tax of one-half of one per cent on individual incomes to raise $119,000,000 in the next two years. Several other GOP senators are undecided how they will vote.

Should the five opposing GOP senators take that stand on a roll call and the 20 Democratic senators vote solidly against it, the measure would fail. Twenty-six votes are needed to pass a bill in the Senate.

A tipoff on its fate may come at the Republican state caucus.

Sen. John M. Walker, Republican floor leader, said an accounting of GOP support will take place at the closed session. He intimated that if the administration lacks enough votes, action on the income tax bill would be held up indefinitely.

The bill is in position for debate today and for a vote on passage Tuesday.

Meanwhile Fine's aides spent the weekend trying to line up a majority for the Tuesday income tax vote.

Republicans opposite to the levy are Sen. C. Arthur Blass (Erie), G. Robert Watkins (Delaware), Henry J. Probert (Montgomery) and Edward J. Kessler (Lancaster).

Sen. John G. Snowden (R-Lycoming) voted against releasing the income tax bill from the Senate Finance Committee last week. He would not, however, say flatly that he would turn in against the bill in a floor vote.

But it was known that Snowden and Kessler have privately echoed the sentiments of small manufacturers who opposed the bill a public hearing last Monday.

The small manufacturers claim that an income tax, hitting the worker for a dollar of every $200 he earned, could ignite statewide demands from labor for wage boosts.

The largest industry group in the State, the Pennsylvania Manufacturers association, is, however, supporting the levy.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, insisted that his side of the Senate aisle is solidly against the income tax. The last Democratic caucus, he said, brought a unanimous show of hands in opposition to the levy.

The Democratic leader said he planned to introduce amendments today to increase the proposed one-half of one per cent rate to five per cent and apply it only to unearned income.

The change is designed to exempt the wage earner's pay envelope. Dent wants the tax limited to such income as rentals, interest on bank deposits, and bonds, stock dividends, rentals and similar items.

The remainder of the Governor's tax program is also on the Senate agenda. It includes making permanent the four-cent cigarette tax, the half cent a pint beer tax and the 10 per cent liquor tax. Portions of those tax rates have been on a temporary basis and must be re-enacted every two years.

Ridgway Deplores Fact That Americans Fail To Understand Issues Underlying Korean War

New York, (AP)—In a letter to his church, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied Far East commander, said that America does not seem to understand the issues in Korea.

The letter was read yesterday by Rt. Rev. Paul T. Sargent, rector emeritus of St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal church. He said the United Nations commander, an active member, wrote from Korea:

"Would God the American people might see a full length movie of current events here in their true setting. It would, I think, make crystal clear the issues for which their sons fight and are content to fight. Yet America seems not to know."

"Hundreds of thousands of poor people, the old, the infirm, the sick, fleeing night and day across country, over the ice of frozen streams, in temperature at zero, no shelter at night but that obtained from huddling together and from such of their belongings as are on their backs or on small two-wheeled carts, driven to all this by one seemingly overpowering fear, the fear of government by Communists."

"Is not the issue truly whether some day our women, our babies, our sick and our aged are to be driven forth by Asiatic masters, or now while yet there's time, this America and our Allies may extinguish all petty issues and unite with all they have to destroy the greatest peril we have ever known."

The letter was read at a meeting of the St. George's association, Protestant organization.

Allies Brace For Expected Red Assault

Tokyo, Monday, (AP)—Allied artillery and airpower pounded at comparatively small Chinese forces along the Korean front yesterday while the U. S. Eighth Army stiffened its line for an expected all-out Red assault.

Allied communiques reported increased pressure against Republic of Korea (Rok) forces on the eastern front. The Roks made limited withdrawals east of Inje, some 25 air miles inland from the east coast.

Just when the Communists would unleash their 500,000-man force in a new offensive was anyone's guess. The buildup of Red troops on the western and central fronts looked almost complete.

A high and responsible source at U. S. Eighth Army headquarters told AP Correspondent Nate Polowsky the Reds now were capable of resuming their southward drive anytime they chose.

It could come within the next few days, or the Reds, conscious of the staggering losses suffered in their first spring offensive launched April 22, might wait a week or two.

Reconnaissance planes uncovered a brand new Communist airfield being rushed to completion at P'yong, 25 miles northeast of the Red Korean capital at P'yongyang.

Thirteen B-29 Superforts paid an uninvited call on the Red airstrip and cratered it with 130 tons of bombs.

The director, Victor E. Moore, said he also would contest a similar one-cent rise already ordered for July 1 in the Pittsburgh, Erie and Altoona areas by the Pennsylvania Milk Control commission.

Mother Shelters Babes-Of-The-Woods From Throngs Of Motorists Along State Highway

Greentown — While hundreds of Pocono Mountains mothers forgot about dirty dishes yesterday and went pleasure riding with their families, not all of them were so fortunate.

One resident, who lives in a wooded section a few miles north of here, has never had the advantages of refrigerators and such wonder-products as lano-lino-filled shampoos and zippy hair-coloring sets.

She spent Mother's day almost the same way she has the past several years. Her young twins demanded most of her time. Like most youngsters, they have an aptitude for getting themselves in precarious situations — precarious to themselves and frustrating to their mother.

But despite their apparent lack of manners, these people meant well, sincerely admired her babies and had a profound amount of respect for their mother.

And most humans do. The mother was a 200-pound black bear and her twins were a couple of frisky cubs about the size of a small terriers.

Mama bear and her cubs attracted all the company late in the afternoon as they were strolling along Route 567 south of here.

The cubs immediately took off to the top of a nearby apple tree at the sound of the first car. Since this car, and every other on the road, stopped when they approached the spot, mama stayed nearby.

For those who got too nosy she'd gladly go into a little act. It consisted of a snort, the bar-loud large, white teeth and few quick hops on her hind feet.

The grand finale to this was the frustrated rush of hundreds of human legs, making a wild dash for the nearest car door.

Spies Nabbed In Manchuria

Hong Kong, (AP)—The Chinese Communists announced today raids in 23 Manchurian cities, including Russian-occupied Port Arthur, had smashed two "counter-revolutionary" spy rings.

The Peiping radio said a number of persons were arrested by security police, but didn't say how many or specifically when the raids took place.

The announcement was considered of more than usual significance in this British crown colony. Peiping has pictured Manchuria as a stronghold of Communism and cited the sprawling territory as a shining example to areas "improperly indoctrinated."

Moreover, Manchuria has been regarded generally as the part of China most strongly under direct Soviet control. Port Arthur, on the tip of Liaotung peninsula, is rumored as possibly Russia's strongest military base in Asia outside her own boundaries.

The Red radio said the mass arrests had alerted "the entire populace" of Manchuria to the danger of counter-revolutionary infiltration.

Earlier, the Chinese Reds dropped a hint that her great purge of suspected western sympathizers may have backfired.

Plans Huge Program

Washington (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall plans to ask Congress for several billions of dollars—possibly six to eight billions—to use on a gigantic military building program.

Educators Killed

West Chester, (AP)—Harry C. Moyer, 61, superintendent of schools in Lebanon county, and his assistant, Reuben F. Longacre, were killed yesterday in a crash involving two cars and a truck.

What To Do Also Poses Real Problem

Washington, (AP)—Some senators are beginning to wonder (a) how to go about getting the MacArthur firing inquiry finished up and (b) whether anything conclusive will ever come out of it.

Two of them, from opposite sides of the political fence, raised those questions in separate interviews yesterday as the hearings headed into a new week with secretary of Defense Marshall still on the griddle after six days of questioning.

Senator Flanders (R-Vt.) — "It's just like the war in Korea — there seems to be no way to terminate it. Our questions are leading us into fields that are vague, indefinite and purposeless."

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) — "I'm afraid we're getting far ahead because senate committees are not a high board of strategy and we're not competent to pass upon how to fight a war, even if we have the authority — and that's doubtful."

They got no particular help from Senator Russell (D-Ga.), presiding over the joint sessions of the Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees in their study of Far East policy and the split that led President Truman to dismiss Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Asian commands.

The Armed Services chairman discussed a part of the same problem with newsmen Saturday as Marshall finished a full week of testimony with another day on the stand to come. He outlined major issues he said had been brought into focus—but suggested no conclusions—and said:

"Our committees will have great difficulty in reaching decisions or agreements on such things as methods of conducting the war."

We lack the military background required for answers but some of the members probably will have them."

The best Russell would do by way of a progress report, on the basis of MacArthur's presentation of his own case and Marshall's lead-off outline for the administration, was a list of questions that have emerged.

He mentioned these as major ones: The "methods for waging the war in Korea," the wisdom of firing MacArthur and "the necessity and the method used" for that step; whether extension of the Korean war would bring Russia into it; the strategic importance of Formosa, on which MacArthur lays more stress than the administration though Marshall says there never was any idea of letting the Communists have it, and the effect of the MacArthur ouster on the Japanese people and on a peace treaty for Japan.

Russell said he hoped to wind up with Marshall—like MacArthur a five-star general—about noon today.

State Extends Bonus Deadline

Harrisburg, (AP)—The deadline for World War Two veterans to apply for the Commonwealth's $440,000 bonus is now extended to next December 31.

The old deadline was July 1, 1950.

Gov. John S. Fine signed into law legislation to give an estimated 200,000 ex-servicemen until the end of the year to file for the State bonus of up to $500.

Other bills signed by the Governor will:

Make a deficiency appropriation of $440,000 to reimburse State-aided hospitals for part of the cost of training student nurses.

Require a record vote by school directors on adoption of the annual budget.

Wilson Predicts One-Year Squeeze

Hot Springs, Va., (AP)—Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson predicted yesterday that the one-year squeeze of civilians—from July 1 to mid-1952—will carry the country over the "hump" of the defense program.

Another 5 to 10 per cent cut in steel for autos—"but not much more"—and roughly comparable curtailment in refrigerators, washing machines and other civilian goods are in prospect, Wilson told reporters.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, here with Wilson to address the Business Advisory council of the Department of Commerce, predicted that the acceleration of defense spending will boost the national income to a $300,000,000-a-year rate by early 1952.

There followed a series of elimination drilling tests, classroom questioning on Civil Air Patrol duties, regulations and tactics, knowledge of aviation and current events. ## Owner Reports Car Damaged

Moses L. Silverwater, operator of a tourist camp at Minisink Hills, reported to Stroudsburg police yesterday that his station wagon had been damaged to the extent of $100 some time Saturday night. He made the discovery about 10:45 yesterday morning, he said.

According to a note left at the police station, Silverwater had permitted an employee, Aaron Hendrick, of 538 West St., Baltimore, Md., to use the machine to drive to Stroudsburg Saturday night.

Silverwater, police say, noted that Hendrick had informed him he had parked the vehicle at the Monroe Elks lodge, Third St., in Stroudsburg, about 8 p.m. Saturday and when he went out to take the car home about 10:30 p.m. he discovered it had been operated by someone one unknown to him and damaged.

Church Heads Joint Protest Against Track

Gilbert—Two top leaders, one Evangelical and Reformed, and the other Evangelical Lutheran, offered services of their legal advisers to congregations of Salem churches here yesterday at a meeting of some 50 key community and regional leaders protesting location of a stock-car racing track next to the two places of worship.

Offers were made by Rev. William O. Moyer, Scranton, president of Wilkes-Barre conference, Evangelical Lutheran church, and Rev. A. Willard Kratz, Catsaqua, president of East Pennsylvania synod of Evangelical and Reformed church.

In addition to top clergy, the meeting was attended by authorized representatives of all major West End civic organizations, township, school district, school, veterans, fraternal, patriotic and similar organizations. All of these people expressed opposition to location of a stock-car racing track in proximity to the two churches and their operation on Sunday to the detriment of conduct of church services.

"I am sure," said Rev. Kratz, that I speak for all the ministers and the 20,000 members of our synod when I say that we oppose the location of this track.

"A stock car race track just doesn't belong next to the community churches. It insults our good taste. I express the deep concern of the 20,000 members of East Penna. synod of Evangelical and Reformed church and offer you our resources and the services of our legal adviser."

Rev. Sidney S. Smith, Northampton, secretary of the synod, advised the West End it can count on the full support of the synod.

"The building of this stock car race track will be an opening wedge to the desecration of the Sabbath and is an expression of irreverence to the church. It will certainly tend to destroy the beauty, the peace and quite this most attractive center of worship in this beautiful rural area. If this matter cannot be settled peaceably, you may count on the full support of the Wilkes-Barre conference of the Evangelical Lutheran church and the services of our legal staff," said Rev. William O. Moyer, Scranton, president of the conference.

Rev. Dr. E. E. Fischer, president of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania, advised by letter that "there can be no doubt that the operation of such a race track will bring with it many features which will interfere with the right of the congregation to conduct services without interference."

Potupolski, police stated has been a sailor in the U. S. Navy the past 11 years and was on his way to visit his family in Wilkes-Barre when the crash happened.

Rep. John S. Shotwell, Effort, offered his wholehearted support to defeat the erection of the track. Harry Young, supervising principal of Polk Township school, said "this is certainly not the place for a stock-car race track. We will do all in our power to help you."

"We are working for the betterment of our community," said Mrs. Lizzie J. Fetherman, Brodheadsville, past president of Progressive Woman's club, "and we are sure that this track will not contribute to the welfare of the neighborhood. I speak for 125 civic-minded women of our organization," she added.

Mrs. Stanley Dunning was spokesman for Ladies Bible class of Salem Reformed church in opposition to location of the track. Others who spoke against the track's location were Ernest Hoffman, James Gould, West End Memorial Post, American Legion; Raymond Andrews, history teacher at Polk school and Kresgeville Reformed Sunday school superintendent; Mrs. Norman Anglemeyer, Women's Guild, Salem Reformed church; Calvin Feller, president of joint council, Effort church; George Dold, Gilbert resident, and Warren Gurskey, elder of Salem church.

Rev. James R. Laubach, Lutheran, and Rev. Alton P. Albright, Reformed, served as co-chairmen of the meeting. Both emphasized the protest is not directed against individuals, but is directly a protest against the building of a race track next to church property.

They also made clear that even though the building of the track does not seem to be a violation of any law, its operation on Sunday or any day will prove a detriment to the community of Gilbert.

They both said that even though the track has been placed under construction, they hoped for an agreement on the issue without recourse to the law.

G. F. Meredith COP Candidate For Council

G. Francis Meredith, 1133 West Main St., Stroudsburg, announced Saturday he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for councilman from the Fourth ward of the borough.

Mr. Meredith will file nomination petitions soon to have his name placed on the July 24 Primary election ballot.

He is a son of the late George W. and Anna Brodhead Meredith, for years residents of Stroudsburg and Delaware Water Gap. His father formerly worked at the Tan

No 'Limited' Hospitals

Woes of the Pennsylvania Senate committee handling the Congressional reapportionment question are aptly epitomized in a statement of the chairman, G. Graybill Diehm of Lancaster:

"There are 33 different plans in Washington. Each one of those fellows (the Congressmen) wants to better his own condition."

The Senate committee has in its lap the unenviable job of compressing the present 33 districts into 30 under the new federal reapportionment act. No present Congressman wants to lose his seat; each would like his district so aligned that his election campaigns can be easier and his chances better.

Apportionment in Pennsylvania as elsewhere has too often been a hit or miss affair in which gerrymandering and jockeying for party preference have played too big a part. The Senate committee can render an important service by tackling its job only with best interests of the state in mind. Party favor has been a bit fickle in recent years, so past jockeying hasn't paid off so well as those responsible had hoped.

Admittedly, redistricting is a difficult task in Pennsylvania with its widest variations in interests and in density of population. The ideal district would have 350,000; aside from being contiguous, its counties would have reasonably similar interests. There are practical difficulties, quite true, so such districts as the "shoestring" and "horseshoe," with their eight counties each, are necessary.

Chairman Diehm is wise in saying the job will be done in Harrisburg. The Senate committee can view the project as a while with less personal interest than the Congressmen involved—and adding machines work just as well here as in Washington.

Reapportionment

Congress and the administration have done well by their rapid fire action to make it possible for men who fight in Korea to be admitted to Veterans Administration hospitals.

Prior to last Thursday such veterans were ineligible for treatment as such hospitals except for service-incurred illness and injury. Under an official interpretation, the United States was not at war in Korea.

The amazing disclosure came with refusal of a VA hospital in Arizona to admit a former Marine, member of a bazooka squad in the earlier days of the Korean battling. The Marine was then taken to a Tucson hospital for the operation he needed so badly.

VA representatives confessed extreme embarrassment at their inability to admit the man, but interpreted the law as saying they must provide hospitalization for men who are veterans of wars the United States has fought, so technically the former Marine was not a veteran of a recognized war. Fortunately, the red tape was cut quickly. Both House and Senate adopted resolutions unanimously. Quickly President Truman told a news conference that Korean veterans should receive the same treatment from the VA as other veterans.

It is hard to conceive why we shouldn't always have recognized that a man who has fought in the "limited action" of Korea isn't just as much a veteran as one who landed on Okinawa or fought at Anzio Beach.

In 1950, the American steel industry shipped approximately 71.5 million tons of steel to consumers, only three percent less than was used for direct war purposes during all of World War Two.

You're Telling Me

Moscow's latest claim is that the Russians first developed television. Along with, eh, Ivan—Kuklavitch and Howdy Doodski?

There's one real Russian invention they're welcome to. And that's Russia, itself!

Peanuts no longer can be peddled in the stands of Briggs stadium, Detroit Tigers home. Bet somebody blames TV for the fall of the lowly goober.

Russia, a sports page story suggests, may enter a team in the next Olympic Games. If they do, we wonder if they'll have the Red Chinese doing the running for them.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Aunt Emma grew somewhat eccentric in her declining years, but since the whole family hoped to inherit some of her considerable fortune, she was humored in every impulse. One afternoon, at the height of a furious storm, Aunt Emma decided she'd like a ride in the family convertible, with the top down.

Uncle Herbert dutifully escorted her to the car, climbed behind the wheel, and without ever budging from the garage, went through the motions of taking her for a drive. At the end of a half hour Aunt Emma pronounced herself satisfied, and the two of them re-entered the living room. "Herbert is a fair enough driver," admitted Aunt Emma. "But I think he's just a little bit off his rocker. Here we were driving through a raging downpour, with the top down, and the darn fool never put on his hat!"

When play-agent Monica McCall's poodle started chewing up a college dictionary recently, she took the words right out of his mouth.

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—it's hard to see how the housewife will get any work done with Lou Snader's 3-minute TV quickies jangling and prancing on the screen. He calls 'em visual phonograph records, and they're fascinating.

The nation's television stations evidently find them handy programming aids, too. Snader estimates his "Telescriptions" are available to 23,000,000 viewers now, and the number is growing daily. In 10 months he has expanded from one room to a handsome 17-room suite, with office force to match.

In this same period he has whipped out 400 of these musical briefs—everything from hot bop to opera and spirituals. Soon he'll start another 400, this time in color in anticipation of multi-hued video. They cost an average of $2,500 each. Using three movie cameras at once, Snader has knocked out as many as 10 in a day.

You not only hear Lionel Hampton's torrid two-finger treble, you see him at the piano with his grinning jivesters around him. Patricia Morrison not only sings "La Vie en Rose" hauntingly; she is displayed in a distractingly low-cut gown. The pretty King Sisters wear frayed straw hats and prance along with bamboo poles as they sing "Some Days There Just Ain't No Fish."

Other Snader performers have included a group of Hawaiians, Peggy Lee, a boys' choir, Allan Jones, Burl Ives, George Shearing, and Gale Storm.

"This is the only product that a TV station can tailor into any spot that's open," said Lou. "Mostly they're played in half-hour groups."

Snader is a bald, fiftyish, one-time theater violinist. He gradually acquired theater properties and made money in Chicago and San Fernando Valley real estate. More recently he turned to movie financing. He financed the original "Frisco Theater" TV films. He figured television stations would need records-on-film as much as a radio station needs a record library.

The musicians' union had barred members from performing in TV film on grounds that these would keep stations from hiring musicians. But Snader reached an agreement with their boss, James C. Petrillo, which provides royalties to be paid into their Performance Trust Fund. For the future, Lou plans children's programs, feature-length TV films, operettas, and musical comedies.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

The Israel Grant — The United States has, since 1945, poured out more than $26,000,000,000 in grants to various countries. This has been like manna from heaven to many governments, particularly the Socialists in Great Britain, who probably would not have survived without our money.

On the other hand, the question has increasingly been pressed upon the American people as to what these enormous contributions have brought us in friendship and even allies. For instance, the unbelievably huge trade of the British with Soviet China, through Hongkong, that has provided the Chinese Communists with weapons and materials with which to kill Americans, does not prove that our vast contributions to Great Britain have brought us many friends.

At the same time that these large sums were being poured into European countries, Nationalist China, which wanted to fight for us in Korea, could not get one cent of aid. And we fell down on our assistance to Iran, so that that country step by step is moving away from the United States and may—probably will—become the next point of Soviet aggression. It looked as though the next place might be Burma, but that seems to have been dropped.

In fact, as a result of the MacArthur scandal, it may become necessary for Soviet Russia to engage upon a diversion, and most of those who watch Stalin's moves carefully seem to agree that Iran is the likely spot for a Spring diversion. Surely, recent events in the middle east give every reason to expect trouble there.

And that brings us to the question of Israel. Here is a little state, founded in 1948, which has gained its right to exist by defending itself, by arms, against a number of older, larger and better established countries, including Egypt. It has financed itself without seeking aid from any country. It has nearly doubled its population by immigration since its establishment. It has created and maintained the beginnings of a modern economy based not only upon agriculture but upon industry.

Barney is a small, lively, bespectacled man who hasn't changed a great deal in the last 45 years and who has been in the strange half-world of the theater for that long and more.

Currently he is enjoying his fourth or fifth re-birth as an important show-business figure, being the producer of the "Jiggs and Maggie" movies, based on the famous comic strip by George McManus. McManus, incidentally, has been around a long time, too; this year is his 40th as cartoonist for the Hearst papers.

The most interesting thing about Barney is his long and colorful life, and it was of that that we talked. He was born down on the lower East Side—Eldridge and Canal—which sometimes seems to be a must requirement for stars in show business, and after continually sneaking into Tom Minor's famous Bowery theater (Minor was the man who originated the hook, to get untalented performers off the stage), he became director of one of Minor's shows.

From then on, he rose rapidly until at one time Barney enjoyed the deserved title, "King of Burlesque." Around 1926 he abandoned the business because the movies were coming along and he saw the handwriting on the wall.

Before that retirement—to go into the realty business in White Plains, N. Y.—Barney had a hand in everything in show business. When Joe Gans had his epic fight with Battling Nelson, Barney promptly signed Joe up for 10 weeks' performances in his show (at $10,000).

There was nothing of the dilettante about Barney. Nothing esoteric. His idea was to get people into a showhouse and entertain them, even if he had to do it with two Ubangis playing mumble-de-gue.

Producing the "Jiggs" movies, incidentally, was the fulfillment of a 30-year dream. Barney had his eye on the McManus strip back as far as 1912, but it wasn't until the early Forties that he could close the deal.

When I talked with him the other day, I kept thinking of all the boy wonders and directing geniuses on Broadway and in Hollywood, who get a point across by the way an actor lifts an eyebrow, or by the smell of incense drifting over an audience. Barney Gerard is a much more simple and candid showman. If he wants an actor to portray anger on a stage, he shows the actor getting mad. This seems almost naive, but if you examine it closely, it may make sense.

I had myself a ball the other afternoon watching a happy man being happy, and it was purely coincidental he happened to be a former king. This would be Edward Albert Christian George ed with U. S. weapons. You figure it out.

Just to prove how bright he was about China, Marshall told the senators that he wasn't fooled about the prattle that the Communists were just "Agrarian Reformers." This was the state department line. Marshall knew better.

"There was never any doubt in my mind, and never any thought there was any misunderstanding about it," he said last week in reply to a question about what kind of Communists he dealt with in China.

Marshall knew, all right, that Moscow was pulling the strings. But his idea of peace was to give the Moscow puppets a few American guns. Marshall is pulling the strings here now, along with Acheson, in an effort to silence MacArthur. Keep it in mind.

In the primitive middle eastern world, Israel is an oasis of modern life and holds forth the prospect of competent industrialization. For instance, it is the only country in that area where airplanes and ships can be serviced. It has brought into the middle east skilled mechanics from many parts of Europe including Germany.

Israel is now engaged in two financial activities in the United States. One is the sale of a $500,000,000 bond issue, sold, as a business transaction, directly to the public. At a time when other countries are asking for handouts, this little country is assuming the responsibility of raising capital by the ordinary processes of paying interest on bonds and providing for amortization. It is capitalism at work.

The other is a request for a grant from the United States for $150,000,000. It is to be noted that the bond issue is more than three times larger than the grant. The conservatism of this proposal is evidence that the masters of finance have not lost their skill, for they are not undertaking more than they can handle, but they need additional support for their rounded program of industrialization.

The value of Israel to the United States is not sentimental. It has to do with having a friendly nation in the middle east, so that if we need to defend ourselves against Russian Imperialism, we shall not be faced there by universal antagonism.

Although this country has done much for the Arabs, the fact is clear that in the United States, the Arabs stood by India against the United States in Korea. The Arab-Indian alliance imperiled our position in Asia. They seek neutrality—a middleman's course, getting benefits where they can and ducking obligations.

In a word, this is the time to make friends in the middle east and by friends, I do not mean such as love us platonically, but such as will stand up in a fight as Chiang Kai-Shek has been willing to do and as the South Koreans have done. Our only prospect for this kind of practical friendship is in Israel.

The objection to the grant can only come from the State Department's unwillingness to antagonize the Arabs. If we help Israel to build a western outpost in the middle east, the Arabs will have to think twice about their kind of neutrality which endangers America.

Washington My New York Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—Defense Secretary George C. Marshall's plan in 1946 for the U. S. government to train and equip 10 Chinese Communist army divisions appears irrational in view of his testimony before the Senate committees investigating the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Marshall told the Senators that he never doubted the Chinese Red were "Marxist Communists." That means they take their orders from Moscow. Here is what he said:

"When I visited Yenan, in that mountain fastness of theirs, in their little theater building which they used for all sorts of purposes, over the proscenium arch was a large picture of Lenin and a large picture of Stalin, and I recall Chou En Lai, the prime minister of the Chinese government, came to me protesting in Chungking, in the late winter or early Spring of 1946, against the dragging of Stalin's portrait through the streets in the mud."

Yet in the early spring of 1946 the then Under-Secretary of State Dean Acheson was pressing the house foreign affairs committee to provide funds for Marshall's plan to arm 10 Chinese Red divisions, and for authority to assign U. S. army officers to train them.

Until recently, the testimony on the Marshall-Acheson plan has remained buried in congressional files. It was never made public, never printed and never discussed publicly—for reasons that are obvious now. Here is some of Acheson's testimony:

"The Communist leaders have asked, and General Marshall has agreed, that their integration with the other force (in China) be preceded by a brief period of United States training, and by the supply of minimum quantities of equipment."

What Marshall and Acheson were asking was that the U. S. aid, with arms and training, a Moscow directed military force that was bent on the conquest of China—a nation that had been an able ally of ours during World War II.

No military leader in the nation's history has ever made a comparable admission. By 1946 almost everyone in the U. S. was acquainted with Communist tactics. In country after country, in Europe, the Communists already had moved right into the house the minute they got a foot in the door. And they did it without aid from American army officers. Yet, Marshall and Acheson wanted to grease the Reds into Chiang Kai-Shek's army.

Chiang must have had a hard time believing what he was hearing. For comparative purposes, how would we feel today if the Mexican government asked Moscow to send over a few hundred technicians and arms to help them organize their army? On the basis of past performances, maybe Acheson would approve such action.

Marshall, upon his return from China in 1947, stated that that country is as important to the defense of America as the Rhine River, the traditional point of no retreat in Germany. In view, however, of his proposal to arm the Marxist communities in China he must have been talking through his hat. Or maybe he was just forgetful.

Since Marshall was so wise about the Chinese Reds he might have warned Congress or taken his case to the public if Acheson and Truman disagreed with his conclusions. Just as General MacArthur has done. But apparently he did not feel that China was worth saving unless the Communists could bet U. S. equipment and training.

The smartest thing Marshall could have done was to urge that Chiang, who helped us win a war in the Pacific, be supplied with enough guns and food to lick the Reds. Instead, he prattled about the value of China to U. S. security, while urging that the enemies of the Republic of China be armed

My New York

New York—Barney Gerard was in the other day from the west coast, and after I got through a long talk I had with him, I had come to a conclusion about what's wrong with show business. What's wrong—if there is something wrong, that is—is that there are too many amateurs in a business where professionalism is the first rule.

Barney is a small, lively, bespectacled man who hasn't changed a great deal in the last 45 years and who has been in the strange half-world of the theater for that long and more.

Looking at Life

Brandeis

"A world teacher of the caliber of Jesus, Mohammed or Buddha will arise soon to save mankind from devils incarnate like the atom and hydrogen bombs, say India's holy men."

Thus read a dispatch from New Delhi, India, where hundreds of "holy men" were gathered on the banks of the Jumna River for their annual conference.

According to a consensus of the hold men, the "terror and confusion created under the shadow of these powers of destruction are a necessary prelude to the emergence of a divine saviour in human form."

India is a country of wishful thinking.

It is a country that confuses dreams with realities.

The coming of another Christ or Mohammed or Buddha may be a wonderful ideal. So is the coming of eternal peace.

But present-day conditions are not a "necessary prelude" to the emergence of a new divine saviour.

And even if that new saviour should emerge—what then?

The Indian holy men and all those everywhere who are awaiting a new saviour forget that the original saviour is still very much alive. He is still very much among us.

But in the mad rush of events we fail to recognize Him.

Oh yes, we give Him lip service. We have built thousands of churches to Him. We go to these churches on Sundays and Holidays and loudly proclaim our devotion to Him.

But lip service is not heart service. Talking about something and LIVING that something are two different functions.

What does Christ mean?

What did Jesus teach and preach? Peace. Brotherly love. Honesty. Decency. Humility. Simplicity. Modesty. Abstinence.

All these qualities and many more are put down for us to read and to follow in that eternally valid book, the BIBLE.

Why do we need a NEW saviour? What could He do that Christ did not TRY to do?

What new preachments, what better rules for living could a new saviour give us?

Unfortunately Man is still living by the SWORD rather than by the WORD.

All honor to General MacArthur and the other great warrior heroes.

Millions turned out to do them homage. Statues of fighting men are erected all over the world.

How many would turn out to honor that NEW saviour if he came to us today?

If he DID come, he would be crucified again.

Not, perhaps, on the cross with a crown of thorns.

But crucified in action and in deed, in negligence of his words and in disobedience of his teachings.

The NEW saviour is here now—He has been here for 1951 years. He is the TRUTH—and the TRUTH can never grow old.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Psychiatrists' Convention

A national association of psychiatrists held a convention in Ohio the other day. We can't help wondering whether the boys were able to decide what a convention signifies, and whether it is symptomatic of anything that should be corrected. A thousand psychiatrists all in one place, looking critically at one another with a typical "I can see what your trouble is," must be pretty unnerving. We can fancy the following report:

The meeting was slow getting started, due to the fact so many delegates differed as to what they were there for. The chairman pounded heavily with his gavel, but got only a response that the use of a gavel was merely an indication of extroversion, perhaps partly due to the fact that as a child the chairman had never been allowed to play with gavels.

The chair kept pounding. This brought a demand for his case history. "The meeting will come to order," he called in a loud voice.

"He shouts!" explained one of the leading psychiatrists. "This is a clear proof of an alarming psychosis. When a man shouts it reveals clearly that something deep down in his libido is bothering him."

"Will the delegates please be seated at once?" called the chair. This brought an expression of belief from all parts of the convention that the peremptory note should be observed and studied carefully. (Perfectly balanced people do not make peremptory demands, numerous delegates pointed out, asking one another if the chairman had had a normal boyhood in a normal home.)

"May I have your attention, please?" cried the chair, pretty exasperated by now.

"He is pleading," observed a prominent committeeman. "A sudden change of mood like this can be indicative of many things. It may be a defense against a hidden emotional disturbance."

Whether the delegates should pay attention to the chair and formally open the convention was now referred to a special committee. The committee adjourned to a lounge full of lounges. Each took one lounge, relaxed and began talking quite freely.

"So we were married but continued to live separately," said one psychiatrist to nobody in particular, his eyes shut tightly.

"I frequently dream I am fleeing across a field of cucumbers on a white steed," said another committeeman flat on his back staring at the ceiling.

"That will be twenty-five dollars. The charge for second visits is less," said a third. "The room is full of pigeons."

"When I was a child of about five years of age I got hold of my father's old army rifle and fired it at him and mother," said a fourth. "They took the gun away from me and were rather critical of my conduct. I never felt quite the same about life after that."

This seemed to be getting nobody anywhere. Finally a messenger from the main convention hall came in and asked if the committee had reached a conclusion on the matter under decision.

"What matter?" demanded one. (The others were now relating recurrent dreams.)

"You mean you don't know what matter?" demanded the messenger. "My! My! You fellows need a PSYCHIATRIST."

This brought the committee upright on the sofas. "That might be a good idea," said one. "Let's call a psychiatrist. Anybody know where we can get one?"

"We ARE psychiatrists," put in one committeeman, after a little thought.

"What are we doing out here?" asked another.

"We are at a convention," said the messenger.

At that they all fell back flat on the sofas again rather hopelessly. (After all, they had to admit, people who go to conventions must have something wrong with them.)

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, both the house and the parents survived the teenage party on Saturday night—and so did the teenagers who aside from sundry bruises and sprains came through all in one piece.

For a while though I thought we could fill all the available space at the new hospital, "Steal the Flag" and "Catch-a-leave" are second only to skiing as reigning outdoor sports. At least when played with the gusto those kids put into them.

There were only thirty, though it did seem more when they came indoors to eat; but what we'd have done with the 210 at the Girl Scout playday, I can't imagine. They came through in fine shape, too, with no permanent scars.

And the only trouble Mrs. Lillian Stevens and her Dames of Malta had with the 250 women attending their big shin dig was that the long white dresses were getting a little dusty around the hems after all the parading around.

And the patients survived the excitement of the hospital opening, though I'll bet its going to seem pretty quiet around there today after all the heister-skelter. All in all it was quite a week-end for everybody, including the mothers, who didn't get overlooked even in all that rush.

Senator Crowe Pays Tribute To Mothers In Address At Annual Eagles Festivities

In times of emergency such as we are now experiencing it is the Mothers of the world who hold together the home, the basic element on which all nations are founded. Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe told the annual Mother's day meeting of Stroudsburg Aerie, No. 1106, Fraternal Order of Eagles yesterday afternoon.

Noting that the Eagles represent one of the greatest and largest fraternal groups in the world, Senator Crowe called attention to the fact that they not only used their strength to promote Mother's day, but legislative enactments which made it a day of nation-wide observance.

Al Williams, Bethlehem, State conductor of the Eagles, also emphasized that the Eagles in their 53 years of existence were prime movers in seeing that Mother's day was recognized.

Yesterday 44 new members were added to the fraternity's enrollment here sending total strength to over 1,900 members. The order exceeded its quota of 144 for the fiscal year by five members and started work on a similar quota for 1951-52 with 12 applications for membership.

Thomas Kitchen presided at impressive initiatory ceremonies.

Ernest Ridgeway, who since 1936 has headed steering committee work which has resulted in meeting assigned membership quotas, reported Mr. Kitchen was top membership producer with eight. Next came Mr. Ridgeway and Bernie Helman with six each and Chester Edjys with five.

Lester Jennings headed the winning team with 42 new members. The winning team and all members who produced three or more members will be guests at a membership banquet next month.

George W. Price, speaking for Monroe County Federation of Clubs, appealed for all Eagles present to support the collection being made among members of all federation-affiliated clubs to send under-privileged children to the Salvation Army camp this summer.

A goal of $1 per member to keep

Local Drivers Fail To Place In Feature Event

Blakeslee—Jack Bréwer, Easton, won his first feature event of the stock car racing season here at Pocono Sunrise Speedway yesterday, with over 1,000 fans cheering him on in the feature grind which was re-started on two occasions because of accidents. No time was kept for the final event.

Charley Cregar, Phillipsburg, N. J., finished second; Mike Muffley, Lehighton, third; and Don Natt, Sugarloaf, fourth.

The consolation grind, a ten lap affair, featured Brewer in the winner's circle once again, as he covered the five miles in 6:50.4.

Gene Comunal, Stroudsburg came home second in this event, while Otto Harwie, Easton, and Roy Dorshmeier, Effort, finished third and fourth respectively.

First Event

Natt won the first qualifying event, ten laps, in 6:36.4, with Muffley coming home second. Bob Ferdinand, Drums, finished third and Chet Adams, Stroudsburg, came in fourth.

Only two drivers finished in the second qualifying heat, as Charley Hansler, Kresgeville, won in six minutes and six seconds. Paul Balogach, Lehighton, finished second.

Accidents and motor trouble prevented the other cars from crossing the finish line.

Joe Cryan, Oxford, N. J., won the third qualifying heat, in 6:21.6, while Fred Fehr, Easton, wound up in second place. Ed Robinski, Long Valley, N. J., was third in this event and Grant Moulthrop, Lehighton, finished in the number four spot.

Although several accidents featured the grind, there were no injuries reported.

Another stock car show will take place at Sunrise Speedway next Sunday.

East Bangor Bows To Pocono A. C., 1-0

Pitchers Hold Upper Hand In Close Battle

A single to right by Danny Eppley and a booming triple into right center field by Jim Werkheiser in the fourth inning of yesterday's baseball action at Gordon Giffels field gave Pocono A. C. a well earned 1-0 victory over East Bangor, with 300 people witnessing the Blue Mountain League affair. It was the second win in as many outings for the home team, while East Bangor now sports a record of one victory and the same number of setbacks.

Russell "Lindy" Transue and Manager John Schoonover, a pair of hard working right handers, limited the East Bangor club to five hits and only two serious threats at scoring.

However, Jim Dietz and Unger turned in a similar pitching performance for the East Bangor contingent, allowing only five hits and fewer scoring opportunities. But, the A. C. contingent took advantage of its one big chance to bring home the bacon.

East Bangor's first serious threat came in the sixth inning, when Mike Pontrelli tripled off the left field fence on a ball that bounced away from Doug Schoonover. However, Transue put on the brakes at this point, retiring Duane Parsons on strikes, John Eden on a grounder to the box and Manager Pete LaBar on a doubler to first baseman Eppley.

Threat

The visiting contingent threatened to score again in the eighth, when Ralph Fisher opened with a single was sacrificed to second by Lefty Tucker went to third on a wild pitch and held that sack as Pontrelli worked the tiring Transue for a walk.

John Schoonover took over the pitching chores at this point. Parsons attempted to squeeze the winning run home, but bunted in the air. John Drew caught the ball and threw to Al Bachman at third, doubling Fisher off that base.

Dewey Martling, field captain, led the Pocono A. C. attack at the plate, accounting for three of the team's five hits.

Analamink—Tobyhanna launched the Pocono Mountain league baseball season with a 9-5 victory over Analamink, as the home team cut its own throat with a total of seven errors, as both teams batted out 11 safeties.

Harry Janson, vice president of the league, highlighted the opening day ceremonies by throwing out the first ball. John Wernett, secretary of the circuit, was also on hand for the first day's activities.

The Tobyhanna contingent pushed one run across the plate in the first inning and was never worse than a tie the remainder of the distance.

Tobyhanna came up with another singleton off the right handed offerings of Tom Foley in the fourth, but Analamink thrilled the crowd.

of 100 people with two markers in the bottom of the same frame to deadlock the score at 2-all.

Take Lead

However, the visiting contingent added three more big tallies in the fifth, one in the eighth and made certain of victory with a trio of runs in the top of the ninth.

Tobyhanna's three ninth inning runs came or a circuit blow to left center by Shimko, with two mates aboard.

Analamink added a singleton in the seventh and its two-run rally in the bottom of the ninth failed by four runs of tying the contest.

Bob "Lefty" Weirich, although touched for 11 safeties, kept them well scattered, while Foley was hampered by some loose fielding on the part of his supporting cast.

Portland Registers Second Win By Dumping Stockertown

Portland—Bernard "Bern" Williams hurled the Portland Apollos to their second straight victory of the season in the Blue Mountain league here yesterday as the home team took the measure of Stockertown, 9-2. It was the second reversal in as many outings for the Stockertown contingent.

Portland took a one run edge in the bottom of the second, and continued to hold the upper hand as both teams scored twice in the third. However, Portland held the upper hand from the fifth frame to the final round.

Scoring

The home club picked up two more tallies in the fifth, the same number in the sixth and made doubly certain of victory with another two-run outburst in the eighth frame.

Williams' only shaky inning was the third and the strong armed right hander was the master the remainder of the distance.

Box score follows:

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Two of the three local coaching positions which were vacant at this time last week have been filled, leaving the East Stroudsburg High school basketball post as the only open spot in the local athletic setup. Stroudsburg recently named Sam Russell, member of the Lafayette varsity cage machine for the past three years, as head cage mentor, while Barrett, of the Monroe county circuit, appointed George Lalli to a similar position as a temporary replacement for Joe Murray, who enters the Marines next month.

Russell will fill the shoes recently vacated by T. Manning "Cap" Curtis, after more than 20 years of coaching at the W. Main St. school. Although Russell doesn't graduate from college until next month, it is hoped that he will launch a successful basketball coaching career at Stroudsburg High. However, the other recent appointment finds an already successful cage mentor moving into a new job, as Lalli moves from an outstanding season at Greene-Dreher into his new spot in Barrett.

Lalli is a keen student of the game and one of the most remarkable men in present day education circles. When George completes a summer course at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College he will be qualified to teach everything from elementary through high school, in addition to being a solid basketball coach. Now that George is the new Barrett mentor, it is safe to say that he applied for both the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg vacancies, but obviously lost out on W. Main Street.

East Stroudsburg hasn't named its new cage mentor as yet, but the announcement may come sooner than any of us realize. The announcement, when it comes, may come as one of the biggest surprises to hit this neck of the woods since the first automobile. All three mentors will take up their new duties by September and at that time will lay the foundation for what they hope will be successful teams. The eyes of the local area will be on each and everyone of these mentors, as they attempt to leave the starting gate on the right foot.

Although a trophy is awarded each of the first three teams in the State Teachers College championship track meet, ESSTC finished second and came home empty-handed on Saturday. West Chester kept the same first place trophy it won last year, while ESSTC turned in the third place cup it brought home at this time last season. However, the gold trophy listed for second place and won by Shippensburg last year, has been lost by that school. Thus, the Warriors came home with a happy heart but an empty hand. Shippensburg will either have to find the missing trophy or purchase a new one to replace that which has disappeared.

Those selling tickets for the Lions club wrestling show are scheduled to make final accountings on ticket sales on Wednesday. The second show sponsored by this club will take place at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College on Thursday night. If this show provides as much entertainment and the same amount of laughter as the first grant-and-groan program in these parts, it should again turn into a big hit. Tickets are scattered throughout Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg at the present time and fans are urged to purchase the pasteboards before the last minute rush takes place.

George Crown, head of the Elizabeth N. J. Park commission, and an organizer of athletic leagues, both for youngsters and adults, was a weekend guest at Tannersville Inn. George is on familiar terms with both Joe DiMaggio and George "Mule" Haas, the latter a former great outfielder with the Philadelphia A's. Mike Pontrelli, catcher with East Bangor, is a veteran of the East Penn league and was on the Bangor, of the North Atlantic league, roster for a couple of games last year. Pontrelli caused quite a sensation when he played in the North Atlantic and East Penn league at the same time.

Harry Janison, vice president of the Pocono Mountain League, threw out the first ball at yesterday's game between Anasomink and Tobyhanna. John Weraett, secretary of the same circuit, was also present at the game played at Anasomink, but won by Tobyhanna, 9-5. Harry Warner's father, sister and brother are planning a trip to Evansville, Ind., later this month to see the lanky first sacker in action with the Browns' farm in the Three I league. Warner is a resident of Reeders.

Jack Swartz and Kenny Moyer were two former outstanding athletes returning to the ESSTC campus on Saturday, in order to attend the big senior prom at Shawnee Inn that night. Pocono A. C. has been given the use of the George N. Kemp, American Legion Post locker and shower room following all of their ball games.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. # Wilkes College Swamps ESSTC Diamond Crew

Four-Game Winning Streak Comes To End

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College saw its four-game winning streak go up in a maze of 19 hits and 11 errors Saturday afternoon, as Wilkes College wiped up the soggy Normal Hill field with the Warriors, 15-3. It was the second loss of the season to Wilkes and the game was no contest after the second inning. ESSTC is now sporting a record of six wins in nine starts this season.

Bill "Lefty" Herring was touched up for one run in the first round, and the southpaw chucker left the contest at the end of the initial frame with a sore arm. Gene Talgo, a right hander, was called to the hill at this point by Coach Ed Shay and it was here that the visiting Wilkes contingent put the contest on ice.

More Runs

Wilkes scored one run in each of the fifth and sixth innings off Melman, before Jim Steidle took over the mound chores in the seventh and pitched the last three innings, giving up a trio of counters.

New Hospital Dedicated At Ceremonies

The excellent new hospital means additional costs. Increased skills of doctors and effective new drugs contribute to patients staying shorter periods in the hospital, another factor which cuts down income, he explained.

"We still need your support," Mr. LaBar emphasized.

Expressing what he said was his own private opinion, Mr. LaBar said he was sorry "we had to seek Federal-State funds, because no matter what anyone says we have to pay for it."

Welcoming continued public support for the hospital, Mr. LaBar said "this is what you want and we ask that you continue to give your help and constructive criticisms."

LeVan B. Flory, vice president of the Gideons, was introduced by Mr. Jenkins. Mr. Flory presented 10 Testaments for hospital rooms. He said white Testaments have already been given nurses.

Mr. Flory briefly reviewed the Gideon movement which began in 1898 with a membership of three men and now has 15,000 members whose work is to place Testaments in hotels, hospitals, etc. They have placed 32 millions, including 11 millions for armed services. They finance production of 65,000 a week for their work, using their own funds and free-will offering. Some 7,000 have been placed locally, including 900 in hotels and auto courts.

Rabbi Herman Levy, who presented Hebrew Testaments for Jewish folks who are hospitalized, said that while the Egyptian kings silted huge memorials for their memories after death, we here had the great foresight to build for the future. He gave 12 Hebrew Testaments to the hospital.

They were accepted by Mr. LaBar who noted that the saying a man in a fox-hole is near his Creator, might well be applied to hospitalized persons since most people turn to their Creator when in pain.

The Word of God, Mr. LaBar said, is the most important factor in all lives and could be of great assistance in curing world ills if it were spread behind the iron curtain.

He commended both the Gideons and Rabbi Levy for their thoughtfulness in presenting Testaments.

Mr. Jenkins introduced Mrs. J. W. Booth, leading exponent of the movement to found the hospital in 1915 and first president of the General Hospital auxiliary, covering a 12-year period of fund raising to keep the hospital going.

He also presented the first president, Luther S. Hoffman, John N. Gish, first treasurer and then president for the long period leading up to election of Attorney C. Raymond Bensinger.

Speaking of Mr. Bensinger, Mr. Jenkins said his great leadership, especially during the exhaustive campaign and construction period, had been a major factor in accomplishing the hospital project.

He introduced Charles Raymond Bensinger, 3rd, son of Attorney and Mrs. Charles R. Bensinger and grandson of the board president, "as president of the General Hospital board of directors in the year 2001."

Mr. Jenkins also presented Mrs. Jeanette Davis, secretary of the hospital board for a period of 26 years.

Jerre Stofflet, treasurer of the hospital board and chairman of the building committee was presented. Mr. Jenkins called attention to the fact that Mr. Stofflet had, as building committee chairman, devoted countless hours and work to the institution through the building period.

Dr. Claus Jordan, chief surgeon, who with his wife Dr. Charlotte Jordan "fell in love with our community while they were young internes on a trip through here", was introduced. Dr. Jordan's persistent appeals to the board contributed to the decision to build the institution, Mr. Jenkins noted.

Harry Smith, superintendent, and Miss Ada Banks, superintendent of nurses, were introduced.

A small metal box containing coins, the Anna Logan society dedication program and the 18-page dedication issue of The Daily Record, was buried next to the dedication dogwood tree. Mrs. Booth, Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Gish and various other officials of the hospital participated in the planting formalities.

Rev. Harold G. Durkin, pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic church, opened the ceremonies with an invocation to God and an appeal that the hospital, its entire personnel list and its work receive the blessing of God.

Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Stroudsburg, closed the ceremonies with a benediction, a thanks to God for the community achievement and a plea for continued guidance in such great works.

Girl Guards, Sunbeams Plan Mother-Daughter Banquet

Tonight at the Salvation Army citadel in East Stroudsburg, the Girl Guard and Sunbeam troops will hold their annual Mother and Daughter banquet.

A representative mother and speaker on this occasion is Mrs. Major Gladys Rader, wife of Major Lyell Rader, divisional young people's secretary of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Rader is a daughter of Salvation Army officers. Her father and mother, Colonel and Mrs. Alexander Damon were officers of many years and Mrs. Rader was brought up in Salvation Army tradition.

The Guards and the Sunbeams will put on a short program of songs, recitations and drills.

The troop committee members have also been invited to attend this banquet.

Sunbeam Sandra Premus will be awarded the Commissioner's Sunbeam medal which she has earned by passing the required tests for this honor.

Major May Glass, divisional young people's secretary of Scranton will be present, and will be presenting badges to both Guards and Sunbeams.

Mrs. Gladys Rader

Committee To Meet Tonight

Seymour Katz, special activities chairman of the local Lions club, announced over the weekend that tickets for the club wrestling carnival are going rapidly. They are on sale in many places of business throughout the country and the prospects point to a sellout on Thursday night, when the grapplers go to the mat at the East Stroudsburg High school gym.

Tonight at the Inn at Buck Hill Falls, Chairman Harry J. Drennan will convene the Lions State Convention committee to act on many problems as the final pre-convention week opens. The Barrett township club will meet earlier tonight.

Chairman Drennan stated yesterday that the varied nature of attractions for the convention will eclipse any previous State affair ever held in Lionism.

The Stroudsburg club has coming up the local appearance of King Bros. Three Ring circus, and Herbert Knight with a squad of advance workers for the show will arrive in town tonight.

The United States Coast Guard was created Jan. 28, 1915.

Dr. Claus Jordan, chief surgeon, who with his wife Dr. Charlotte Jordan "fell in love with our community while they were young internes on a trip through here", was introduced. Dr. Jordan's persistent appeals to the board contributed to the decision to build the institution, Mr. Jenkins noted.

Passenger Slightly Injured In Collision Of Two Cars

Two cars were involved in a crash on Route 209, about seven miles northeast of East Stroudsburg, at 8:15 p. m. Saturday. One passenger was slightly injured and damages estimated at $170 resulted. There were no prosecutions, State police of the Stroudsburg sub-station reported.

McClellan Fish, 36, of East Stroudsburg RD, was operating a 1937 coach and William Schmitz, 17, of 122 High St., Newton, N. J., a 1950 two-door sedan, the police said.

Fish, according to the police, made a left turn into a driveway when Schmitz's machine smacked into the left side of the other car. The Fish car was able to continue on its own power, but the Schmitz machine had to be towed away, being considerably damaged in front. Schmitz was the sole occupant of his vehicle.

Harvey Fish, 40, East Stroudsburg RD, passenger in the Fish car, was taken to the Monroe county General hospital, East Stroudsburg, in the police car by Troopers Donald J. Henzey and Alexander G.

The roll top desk was involved about 1850 by Amner Cutler.
